

Why are you applying for the course and what are your expectations from the current course?

If associated with an organisation

Name: _____

Address: _____

Mobile: _____ Email: _____

About the organisation: _____

Do you need accomodation: Yes No

If Yes: Twin sharing Single room

Date: _____

Place: _____ Signature of applicant _____

Send your participation form to:

Department of Civics and Politics
University of Mumbai
Pherozshah Mehta Bhavan,
Vidyanagri, Santacruz (East), Mumbai - 400098
Phone: 022-26526175, 022-26541471
Fax: 91-22-26526175
Email: civicsandpolitics@gmail.com

Or Coordinator
CEHAT

Sai Ashray, Aram Society Road,
Vakola , Santacruz (East), Mumbai - 400055
Maharashtra, India
Tel: 26673571 / 26673154
Fax: 26673156
Email: cehat@vsnl.com, treasuresharma@yahoo.com
Web site: www.cehat.org

Medium of the course:
English

Eligibility:
Graduation in any discipline

Course Fees:
Rs.4000/-
(Covers the cost of course material, breakfast and lunch for 10 days)

Last date for submission of form:
24th December, 2011

Accommodation:
Those participants requiring accomodation will pay -
Rs. 300/- per day (Twin sharing basis)
Rs. 700/- per day (Single room)
(All the rooms are Air conditioned)
Accommodation will be provided in the University of Mumbai campus located in Kalina

Venue:
Department of Civics and Politics, University of Mumbai,
Pherozeshah Mehta Bhavan, Vidyanagari, Santacruz (E),
Mumbai 400098

About organisers:

University of Mumbai:
The Department of Civics and Politics, University of Mumbai, established in 1948 is one of the oldest in the country. The Department has been a pioneer in promoting teaching and research in Political Science and interdisciplinary area. In view of the pre – eminent reputation that the Department enjoys it has been the recipient of special assistance from University Grants Commission. The Department conducts M.A. (Hons), MPhil, PhD programmes as well as one year PG Diploma courses in Human Rights, Women’s Studies, Environment and Development and International Studies.

Centre for Enquiry into Health and Allied Themes (CEHAT)
CEHAT, the research center of Anusandhan Trust, stands for research, action, service and advocacy in health and allied themes. Socially relevant and rigorous academic health research and action at CEHAT is for the well being of the disadvantaged masses, for strengthening people’s health movements and realizing right to health care.

INTERNATIONAL
POST GRADUATE
CERTIFICATE COURSE

An intensive course exploring linkages between health and human rights and building skills in rights based monitoring and use of international and national instruments, designed for health and human rights activists.

Department of Civics & Politics,
University of Mumbai

Centre for Enquiry into Health and
Allied Themes

Jan 23-Feb 1, 2012

Health and Human Rights

About the Course

This intensive 10 day residential course focuses on the relationship between health and human rights. The course identifies and discusses the complex interactions between health and human rights.

The key areas covered by the course are:

1. The implications of human rights for public health theory and practice.
2. The effect of health policies and programs on human rights
3. Health consequences of human rights violations
4. The linkage and synergies between promoting and protecting health and human rights
5. Monitoring health and human rights

This course is designed to provide an overview of the nature and role of national and international norms, processes and institutions with respect to health and human rights issues. The course will include responses of the national and international political and legal order to some of the pressing issues of health and human rights. It will explore the dialectical relation between the pursuit of national interest by the governments and the rhetoric of global objectives by the agencies that include health or human rights within their mandates.

Aim

The overall aim of the course is to prepare participants to understand and interact with the local, national and international systems relating health and human rights and to impart them with knowledge to further these concerns in their respective areas of work by applying a right-based approach.

1. To understand that Health is not simply a medical issue based on natural and biological factors and medical interventions but is also a social issue.
2. To have a knowledge of (a) human rights standards as expressed in nationally and internationally agreed texts; (b) the supervisory mechanisms which encourage compliance; and (c) the ways in which practical respect for human rights is fostered in concrete, practical terms.
3. To have knowledge of how health professionals can protect and respect human rights.

Outcomes

1. Participants will acquire a basic understanding of both the history and present status of human rights and law as they apply to public health practice.
2. They will be able to analyse the human rights dimensions of public health policies and programme and access various mechanisms and procedures to further human rights of persons whose health status is threatened.

Methodology

The teaching methods will be a combination of lectures, group work, self/-group study, case studies, presentations and discussions in plenary. The main emphasis will be on participatory approaches.

Module of the Course

Module 1

Introduction to human rights

1. Philosophy and theory of human rights
2. International bill of human rights
3. Right to health

Module 2

Introduction to health

1. Political economy of Health and Health care
2. Public health
3. Health financing
4. Health care-universal access and equity

Module 3

Exploring health and human rights

1. Gender and reproductive rights
2. Sexual minorities and human rights
3. Health impact on persons with psychological disabilities
4. Right to essential drugs
5. Physical disability and violation of rights
6. Right to food
7. Children and human rights violations
8. Health consequences of conflict situations and violation of rights
9. Health impacts of human rights violations on dalits and adivasis
10. Medical ethics and human rights
11. Torture and human rights
12. Right to environment and water

Module 4

Monitoring right to health and health care

1. Basic elements of human rights monitoring and fact-finding
2. Monitoring right to health care
3. Overview of budgets and monitoring
4. Patients rights and community based monitoring

Application Form

International Post-Graduate Certificate Course in Health and Human Rights

An intensive course exploring linkages between health and human rights and building skills in rights based monitoring and use of international and national instruments, designed for health and human rights activists.

Name of the Applicant: _____

Age : _____ Sex : _____

Address: _____

Phone: _____ Mobile: _____

Email (if any): _____

Experience in the field of health/human rights or both;

Educational background:

| Level | Board |
|-------|-------|
| | |
| | |
| | |

Professional background:

| Name of the Organisation | Designation |
|--------------------------|-------------|
| | |
| | |
| | |